

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A stereoscopic liquid crystal display device and method using a liquid crystal polymer film. Light transmitted through first and second micro-polarizing regions have different phases from each other, and light with different polarization properties is 5 emitted.

20090769-030602